Hi Andrew,

We don't use D & B. We have commercial references that we purchase from quite often in ABT Commercial as well Staples. We just got done purchasing about 30,000 computers from staples for our employees and drivers. Since we're a private company paying wire or credit card, I don't think we would release financials. I'm a bit confused on the below. Can we talk about what you need on Tuesday? I don't want there to be any hang ups.

Thanks,

David Walton

As we set up your account and I sent your order through, it was flagged by our order risk management team and they are requesting some things from you as they reviewed your D&B report.

Can you please provide any financials, bank references, or commercial customer references for them to review?

I will have a small batch of around 9000 on the first order. If that goes well, I can start pushing them out to our other larger companies fairly quickly.

Andrew,

Thanks for the e-mail and prices. I have reviewed your prices, but I don't think these prices will work for us. To be honest Hyperice came back to us with much more aggressive prices. Without a doubt, Therabody is #1 but for us we want to give away a branded product and get the best price. If you guys have some more room, we could give you some suggested pricing.

If you are ever in the Virginia area please stop in to see me.
